

GASTON MEANS RESUMES TALE OF ABDUCTION

In the kidnapping, who said the baby was then at Juarez, Mex., and would be delivered when all the money was collected.

He said Henderson told him the baby was sick, and a doctor said it was suffering from some form of colitis, caused by a sudden change in water and milk.

"I insisted on seeing the baby," Means said, "but Henderson told me he couldn't arrange that."

On April 8, Means said, he told Mrs. McLean that if there were any further delays in negotiations with the kidnapers concerning collecting money, "I was going to get ready to shoot my way out of the situation."

Wanted Baby
Mrs. McLean, he said, then "hit on Mr. Fox (Whittaker) and said she wanted the baby and would get General Peckham to get the army from Fort Bliss to handle the situation."

Means said Whittaker told him later that he was "through," and was not "going to get involved" in the situation. Means then went to Juarez to see Henderson, and testified he received instructions to go to Chicago to arrange to get the marked $50,000 which Col. Lindbergh already had paid to the supposed kidnapers.

While on the train, Means said, he and Whittaker "had a quarrel" over the amount of money due Whittaker for expenses. Means said Whittaker refused to participate at that time in the negotiations to obtain the "hot money."

He said he met Fenton at the "First Dearborn hotel in Chicago and was shown $40,000 which Fenton represented as the money which "Jafie," Lindbergh's agent, had passed over a cemetery wall in the Bronx, N. Y., to men who represented themselves to be the kidnapers.

Means testified Mrs. McLean promised to negotiate a change with unmarked money for the $40,000 which Fenton put in a lock box for safe keeping.

Means arrived back in Washington on April 12 and on April 14, he said, he arranged to meet Fenton at Frederick, Md., to discuss the best method of exchanging the money.

THRILLING WESTERN AT WALKER'S STATE

A terrific and unusually thrilling spectacle and struggle form the climactic end of "Scarlet River," starring Tom Keene in the RKO-Radio action film which will thrill Walker's State theater audiences tonight and tomorrow.

Keene, as a film cowboy who comes to Arizona to "shoot" a Western picture, in engaged in murderous combat with real outlaws. In the thrilling climax he fights valiantly with the gang leader on the edge of a cliff, but is overpowered and prepared for death in a plunge into an abyss below. This gripping action occurs against a background of real flames.

Supporting Tom Keene in "Scarlet River" are Dorothy Wilson, Ed Kennedy, and others.

LEGION IS HOST TO GOLD STAR MOTHERS HERE

Twelve Gold Star mothers, who lost their sons in the World war, were paid homage by the Santa Ana American Legion post last night.

The occasion was the post's annual Mother's day program. It was held at the Knights of Pythias hall, at Sixth street and Broadway, the post still being without a home where it can entertain properly.

The Gold Star mothers were introduced to the some 300 persons who were present at the meeting, and were roundly applauded. A short talk welcoming them to the post and praising them was made by Attorney Z. B. West, member of the post.

Some 50 other mothers, who had accompanied their sons to the meeting also were introduced.

The meeting started with a pot luck dinner after which, through the courtesy of the Gilmore Oil company, several reels of motion pictures, depicting early California life and pictures of historical interest from up and down the coast from Alaska to Mexico, were shown.

A dance followed the regular program.

RELATIVE OF SANTA ANAN SWEPT TO SEA

Word was received here this morning by Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor that no trace has been found of his cousin John Sweedborg who, with his wife and William Rudolph were blown to sea two days ago in a rowboat off San Clemente Island.

Sweedborg, his wife and Rudolph were members of a party of five that had gone to the island in the speedboat "Let's Go" more than a week ago. The other members of the party stood helpless as the boat was swept to sea Wednesday when high seas and a terrific wind made it impossible for them to reach the speedboat which they had started for in the rowboat.

A short time before leaving for San Clemente Island Sweedborg was in Santa Ana visiting Wahlberg and his family. A coast guard boat is making a search for the crew. So far no trace has been found of the missing trio.

FAMOUS INDIAN CEREMONIAL FIRE DANCE TONIGHT WILL CLOSE S. A. JAYCEE FIESTA

"The Fire Dance," described by Dr. J. P. Harrington of the Smithsonian Institute as the greatest Indian performance in interest and magic power to be witnessed among any other tribe, will be performed by the Mission Indians at 11 o'clock tonight as one of the features of Santa Ana Junior college's annual Fiesta day celebration in an arena on the campus near Ross and Chestnut streets.

The Mission Indians, who have been secured from a Paysonkai reservation some 20 miles south of Santa Ana, have retained up to the present day their ancient and primitive ceremonies, and will give a performance such as would have been seen here 150 to 200 years ago, it is said.

With one of the most complicated and symbolic religious systems in American Indian history, the Mission tribe has been requested to present its Indian temple dance and Whirling dance during the morning and afternoon programs, to be followed by the spectacular "Fire Dance."

Quench Flames With Bodies

Immediately following the presentation of "The Royal Family," three-act comedy in the high school auditorium this evening, Fiesta day attendees will be ushered to the arena, where the Indians will offer their best dance, which consists of putting out a large fire by the dancing redskins who use nothing but feet, hands and bodies without the aid of any implement. An Indian known as the firemaker builds a pile of logs four feet high and after they port with the following statement:

Public Expense

"It is assumed that the people of Orange county are committed to the policy of providing fundamental education to its youth, the cost of same to be defrayed from public money."

"A condition of economic depression exists in which school expense must be fitted to the amount of money which can be found from tax sources. Recommendations as to economy must be made from necessity, not because of desire or choice."

"We accept and emphasize the condition that there can be no moratorium in the education of our boys and girls. Instruction must be uninterrupted. The construction of new classrooms may cease temporarily without serious or permanent result but a breakdown of educational service would deduct from the life-time potentialities of every child in the generation affected. We are committed therefore, to the elimination of such debatable curricular procedure, school practices, appurtenances and business methods as will leave intact the fundamental of education, soundly administered and taught by teachers who shall receive remuneration which is believed to be adequate."

Outlining the "primary deficiency" of the county school system the report said:

"Any mature mind of reasonable experience can readily identify the cardinal fault in our school system. The school affairs of Orange county, with a school population of 25,500 elementary, high school, and junior college students, are administered by no more than 64 school boards. The power of each board is autocratic. There is no system of checks and balances such as is ordinarily deemed prudent. The county superintendent is merely an advisory officer. He has no power. The result has been the establishment of 64 highly individualized school communities."

"Your committee deduces that correlated effort between school boards and school officials has been limited. Evidences are numerous that, even in the small geographic area of Orange county, the results obtained have not been uniform efficiency. On the contrary there appears to have been a competitive spirit in which higher salaries, better buildings, and more courses have been limited only by the taxable wealth in the respective districts."

No Central Control
"There is no central control. Neither has there been the needed substitute—voluntary co-operative work by school boards in which the yardstick of comparative experiences would serve all."

"In no sense does this committee wish to assert that school boards have not striven sincerely to serve their communities. But it appears, for example, that a school board in San Juan township does not seem to know, nor to care greatly, about the activities of a board in Brea township. If this mutual knowledge existed, or if central control could bring about a consideration of each integer by the entire school system the result would be immediately reflected in the tax bill without detrimental effect upon educational advantages."

"The members of this committee are laymen. To school people we wish to say that concern is not our purpose. Our conclusions on this point may be in error. If they are, we are at loss to explain the following situations:

"1. In 1932-33 a high school of 273 students budgeted $36,342 for teachers' salaries. In the same year another high school of 278 students had a salary budget of $56,500.

"2. In 1931-32 teacher salary per average daily attendance in one school was $121.51. In another it was $222.32. The disparity in enrollment in the two schools was but 12.

Operation Cost
"3. Last year the operation of a school plant housing 645 students cost $17,587. Another school of considerably less than half this enrollment spent $17,909 in plant operation. Other schools, similar in size to the second mentioned, spent respectively $7,345 and $12,974 for plant operation."

"4. Some low cost schools are not less efficient than high cost schools. Why?"

"The above is a limited presentation of the conditions existing in the county school system."

INFLATION BILL DEMONSTRATE SIGNED TODAY LIQUID AIR BY PRESIDENT HERE TONIGHT

Those who witnessed the signing were Secretary of Agriculture Wallace, Henry Morgenthau, Jr., chairman of the farm board; Professor M. L. Wilson, agricultural expert; Frederick Lee, Edward O'Neill, Mrs. Louis Tabor of the National Grange, Mordene Ekele, agricultural expert; Jerome Frank, Marvin Jones, W. W. Myrers, economist connected with the farm board, and Rep. Fulmer, Dem., S. C.

Provisions
1.—Reduction to 4 1/2 per cent of interest rates on the more than $1,000,000,000 federal land bank loans to approximately 400,000 farmer borrowers.

2.—Temporary waiving of the requirement that payments be made on the principal of these loans.

3.—Continuance of extensions on land bank loans "where desirable and necessary."

4.—Provision for issuance of $2,000,000,000 of land bank bonds for exchange or purchase of farm mortgages.

5.—Provision for $200,000,000 of R. F. C. funds to refinance farmers' debts.

6.—Sharp curtailment in the volume of foreclosures.

7.—Refinancing irrigation, drainage and levee districts where their outstanding securities have depreciated, benefits to be prorated to farm owners in these districts.

8.—Provision of loans to joint stock land banks to facilitate their "orderly liquidation."

Morgenthau estimated that the reduced interest rate on land bank loans would save borrowers about $15,000,000 during the five years it is in effect. He believed the reduction "will cause others in the mortgage loan business to do likewise."

For the refinancing of farm mortgages the bill authorizes $2,000,000,000 in long term, tax exempt bonds, 4 per cent interest to be guaranteed by the government.

The bonds, Morgenthau explained, may be used in three ways:

1.—Sold to the investing public to secure funds to loan on the security of first mortgages which are acceptable security.

2.—Exchanged for first mortgages now existing.

3.—Sold after one year to refinance outstanding issues of federal land bank bonds "provided funds from such new bonds were not needed to make new loans."

Exchange Loans
When new loans are made by the land banks or bonds exchanged for mortgages, Morgenthau said, the advances "may not exceed 50 per cent of the appraised normal value of the land for agricultural purposes, plus 20 per cent of the insured improvements."

"Bonds exchange for first mortgages cannot be in excess of this amount or the amount of the mortgage offered in exchange, whichever is the smaller," he explained. "Where such exchange is made, the farmer pays the bank on the basis of the face value of the bonds exchanged, and the loan is amortized over a long period, bearing interest not to exceed 4 1/2 per cent. Each borrower will be required to purchase capital stock to the extent of five per cent of his new loan either in the local National Farm Loan association or the bank."

"In order to effect an exchange of first mortgages for bonds, it is anticipated that in many cases the amount of such mortgages will have to be curtailed to come within the sum which can be loaned."

Distinct from the land bank loans, provision is made for a loan fund of $100,000,000. Advances from this are expected to begin next week. They will be used to refinance any indebtedness of the farmer, to provide working capital for farm operations and to enable farmers to redeem or repurchase property foreclosed since July 1, 1931. The farmer must give a mortgage as security.

OBSERVE ANNIVERSARY
BREA, May 12.—Mr. and Mrs. E. Duin Rowland, the latter formerly Miss William Terry, of this city, celebrated their first wedding anniversary with a dinner given at the home of Mr. Rowland's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Rowland, in Santa Ana. Places were laid for the honorees, for Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Rowland and for Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Terry.

Outlining the need for revision of salaries, the report said:

"Salary reductions cannot be escaped if tax rate increases are to be avoided. The tax delinquency average is now at 11.3 per cent with the high delinquency limited to a relatively small percentage of property value. The office of the county tax collector is now completing statistics on the delinquency in each school district, which will be available to school boards soon. This will present each board's delinquency problem distinctly and establish the necessary increase, if any, over the item of 10 per cent for delinquency included in most budgets for 1932-33."

"The assessed valuation has been decreased in cities from 10 to 12 per cent, dependent upon the ability to accomplish revaluation of improvements. Decrease of assessed valuation in citrus areas will approximate 15 per cent because of the revaluation of trees. If tax delinquency is high in rural areas this revaluation in assessment of the problem of the school board will be especially difficult. It is indicated, however, that the delinquency will not be excessive in citrus areas."

Sheriff Holds Liquor Party

Sheriff Logan Jackson staged a liquor party this morning, with the assistance of deputy sheriffs at the county yards.

The party, however, was a "dumpling" party at which more than 300 gallons of alcoholic liquor which had been accumulated in raids during the past two months, was destroyed.

Liquor dumped included 30 gallons of whiskey, 18 gallons of gin, 101 gallons of wine, 22 gallons of alcohol 152 gallons of beer. Various liquor manufacturing equipment was destroyed also, as well as a sack of marijuana.

This will be the fifth lecture on the Orange county scientific lecture course, the proceeds from which all go to provide scholarships for students from Orange county at the California Institute of Technology.

At a temperature of about 300 degrees below zero Fahrenheit, ordinary air becomes liquid which looks very much like water. Because of its low temperature however, liquid air has many interesting properties which lend themselves extremely well to spectacular demonstration. At this temperature, nearly all ordinary liquids become solids, rubber becomes as brittle as china, lead becomes

CONVICT WOMAN ON CHARGE OF DRUNK DRIVING

Following denial of her request for probation on a charge of drunken driving Mrs. Mary Musolf, Huntington Beach matron, was taken to her home town this morning in an effort to secure $250, the amount of the fine imposed upon her.

Probation was denied Mrs. Musolf this morning by Superior Judge G. K. Scovel to whom a jury had returned a verdict of guilty and recommending that the woman be fined $250.

Mrs. Musolf was arrested several weeks ago and charged with driving an automobile while intoxicated. She had been taken into custody following an automobile accident near Huntington Beach. At her arraignment she entered a plea of not guilty and demanded a trial by jury.

During the trial Mrs. Musolf admitted having drunk a tumbler of wine on the day of the accident but denied that she was intoxicated at the time she drove her automobile.

SINGERS FROM SANTA ANA AT P.-T. A. SESSION

Going on record as favoring U. S. Senate bill No. 4435, for amendment of the tariff act and the criminal code of the United States, the California Congress of Parents and Teachers now holding its 34th annual convention in Long Beach, made this bill the subject of a resolution adopted at Wednesday's sessions, according to reports from those attending.

Considered as one of the most interesting of the week's programs, "Father's Night," observance in the Long Beach Municipal auditorium, drew an unusually large attendance from Santa Ana as it did from all over the state.

One of the high lights on the program was the chorus of 600 voices, assembled from Mothers' choruses of different associations. Santa Ana Mothersingers, directed by Dorothy Page Harper, took part in this under the direction of Mrs. T. L. Lorbeer of Riverside, state chairman of music. Accompaniment required three pianos and violin. Mothersingers present were Mesdames E. J. Murphy, Jack Van Bessie, J. K. Farwell, James Farren, Thomas Hubbard, Virgil Clem, Guy Belcher, A. A. Klingenberg, B. F. Quivey, Roy Beall, E. G. Warner, Edward Davis and Miss Aurelia Koch.

Resolutions passed by the convention have been of special importance. One reaffirmed the belief of the California Congress of Parents and Teachers that education is the first business of the state, and pledged support to the maintenance of public schools at a standard consistent with the efficient training of youth.

A second resolution reaffirmed faith in the program of the state bureau of parent education, and expressed hope that provision might be made in the state budget to continue this work.

Birth Control.
Senate Bill No. 4435, which received such favorable consideration from the convention delegates, provides that the exclusion of birth control supplies and literature from the United States mails shall not apply to licensed physicians and duly authorized medical schools, clinics, journals and associations, to the end that knowledge of birth control on sound eugenic and medical principles, might be facilitated.

Among Santa Ana women attending Wednesday's sessions in addition to those comprising the Mothersingers, were Mesdames F. H. Helme, George Krock, Byron Walbridge, Walter Fine, R. D. Flaherty, W. E. R. Crawford, Mary B. Robertson, S. I. Preble, John Mills and Edna Rosenbaum.

The convention closes today.

Y. M. PHYSICAL DEPARTMENT HEAD RESIGNS

R. R. Russick, physical director of the Santa Ana Y. M. C. A., presented his resignation at a meeting of the board of directors held yesterday afternoon. The resignation was accepted with regret, in order that Russick may carry out his plans to open a private gymnasium and massage parlor, which he has arranged at 201 East Fourth street, and at which place he will carry on his work hereafter.

Russick came to Santa Ana as physical director at the time of the opening of the new Y. M. C. A. building in April, 1924, and for nine years he has directed the health education program to the benefit of hundreds of men and thousands of boys in this community.

Among his achievements may be mentioned the fact that he has personally taught more than 2000 boys to swim, and has trained many in life saving and in first aid. The Santa Ana volleyball team, trained under his leadership, has repeatedly been a high point team in the Southern California Y. M. C. A. competitions. At least two men who have been trained in his gymnasium groups are now serving as physical directors in other institutions. He has won a place in the esteem of many who have come under his instruction during these nine years.

His decision to launch into business for himself has come as the result of the financial difficulties of the local Y. M. C. A., which has been for several months unable to pay salaries to its employees. Russick hopes that he may be able to continue to serve the community and at the same time making a living in his chosen line of work, hence the new venture.

Y Program Carries On
The change in leadership will not interfere with the work being carried on by the Y. M. C. A., it was stated by General Secretary R. C. Smedley, in announcing the action.

"We expect to carry on the full program of gymnasium classes," said Smedley. "It will impose greater responsibility on those of us who carry the load, but it will be kept moving as usual."

"The regular class for young men, known as the senior class, which has met on Monday and Thursday evenings ever since the building was opened, will continue its work under the direction of a special committee made up of its members, many of whom are competent gymnasium class leaders. The class for business men, on Monday, Wednesday and Friday afternoons at five o'clock, which has also met continuously through the years, will play volleyball as usual."

"The swimming and gymnasium periods for boys will remain unchanged for the present. Monday and Thursday afternoons after school, and Saturday mornings are the general boys' periods in gym and pool. The employed boys meet on Monday and Thursday evenings at seven, and will continue to meet at those times."

"While it is a matter of regret that one who has served so long and so well must drop out of our force, it is accepted as one of the penalties of the present financial crisis. We believe that our members will generally join with the employed secretaries in keeping the Y program at its fullest efficiency, and that the work for the summer may continue to serve the community in an acceptable manner."

CITRUS MEN HOLD ANNUAL FIELD MEETING

Practically all orange growers in the San Juan Capistrano district attended the annual citrus field meeting held at the Carl Hankey ranch Wednesday. Growers from other sections of the county were prevented from attending by rains which fell during the morning.

Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg was one of the speakers at the field meet and reviewed the cost of production analysis that has been conducted during the past seven years through co-operation of many citrus growers in the county and the farm advisor's office.

Wahlberg revealed that during the past few years costs have been steadily reduced in fertilizing, spraying and cultivation of citrus groves. The study, he said, has also revealed that irrigation costs have remained at practically the same level. The average amount of water used today is less than the amount generally used several years ago but, according to Wahlberg, rates have increased enough to maintain the cost level. Wahlberg emphasized that growers all over the county have made appreciable reductions in production costs and many of them have reached the limit of reduction without sacrificing efficiency. The reduction in cost of production, he said, has meant increased profits to the grower but it now appears that stabilization of the citrus market is the growers' best hope of increasing profits.

Holmes Bishop, chairman of the citrus department of the farm bureau, gave a historical review of the stabilization program and told the need for such a program. He reported that at present shippers representing 33.5 per cent of the Valencia crop based upon last year's shipping records, have already signed the agreement. Bishop said that this sets a record in co-operation.

He also explained the two marketing bills now before the state legislature. One is known as the Farm Bureau Bill and provides the machinery for regulating production and distribution of any crop providing two-thirds of the growers favor each regulation.

The second bill, he said is known as the Randall measure and makes it compulsory for citrus growers to accept such regulation. County Agricultural Commissioner Dixon Tubbs outlined local pest control problems and pointed out that it is desirable to economize on production costs but the pest control phase of orchard management should not be cut to the extent that it would jeopardize the efficiency of pest control.

Auto Afire Cause Of Eleven Arrests

Eleven motorists who parked their cars within a radius of two blocks of a fire at 379 North Cambridge street, Orange, last night, will have to appear in court to explain themselves. Orange has an ordinance prohibiting parking within two blocks of a fire.

The excitement resulted when the automobile of John Sanders, parked in the driveway of the Sanders home, caught fire. A nearby palm tree became a mass of flames and as a result, several hundred persons swarmed to the scene, hampering firemen in their efforts to extinguish the flames.

Police took down the car license numbers and today were busy checking ownership of the machines.

PRISON TERMS SET AT 3 YEARS IN TWO CASES

Word was received here yesterday from the board of prison terms and paroles at San Quentin that sentences had been determined for two prisoners sent to that institution from Orange county.

Mrs. Linna Davis, former Santa Ana church worker and clubwoman, sentenced to prison last year on a charge of issuing a bank check with intent to defraud, had her term set at three years. She was received at the prison March 12, 1932. Mrs. Davis had pleaded guilty to a charge of issuing a worthless check for $2175, drawn on the First National bank of Santa Ana, to Walter Swanberger. Following her plea of guilty she requested probation, which was denied.

P. A. Williams, found guilty by a jury last October on a charge of violation of the corporate securities act, also had his term fixed at three years. Williams was convicted in connection with his activities in connection with sales of stock in the Gold Reserve Mining corporation. He was received at San Quentin October 29, 1932.

STUDENTS HOLD STREET PARADE TO PROTEST CUT

FULLERTON, May 12.—Student protests, including a serpentine through the streets of the city, and a dirge-like ceremony in which a casket, bearing on its side, "Sports, born in Athens, 776 B. C.; died in Fullerton, 1933 A. D.," was buried, were held yesterday by the student body of Fullerton Union High school and District Junior college.

It was brought about by reports that the school board had voted to discontinue interschool athletics at the request of a chamber of commerce committee.

Letters Written

Many detailed letters have been written and many meetings held on the subject since the school board meeting. The committee said to have made the request, headed by R. W. Vanderhoof, La Habra, and including Angus McAulay, Walter Mucken-thaler, Harry O. Easton, has held many meetings and in the interest of the taxpayers, and at the request of the board, had met with the board to discuss the problem at hand in the light of needs and problems of tax payers. The school board, according to reports, had voiced a request that the administration, in submitting a budget for the year, include drastic cuts, even in the athletic department. The three members, Claude Ridgeway, Albert Launer and L. B. Steward who were present when the suggestion was made, said they anticipated the suggestion would bring response from tax payers as to the advisability of cutting that department.

Board Faces Problem

The situation facing the board, according to members, is similar to that of other boards of trustees of schools. There is a reduced land valuation, reduced allowance from the state, and a cut county budget, with a delinquent tax list. In face of the absolute necessity of cutting the budget, comes the problem of where to cut.

The committee, which was coordinated by the chamber of commerce, will meet at the hall tonight with the group of student body representatives to discuss the problem.

A group, wearing funeral gowns, singing dirges, and carrying their casket, came to the chamber of commerce meeting yesterday noon to protest, but stayed on request of Harry May, secretary, to participate in the discussion, and to have it explained to them the committee has but one object, to assist in the retention of the school on a high basis, in face of the needed cuts.

Leaders in the serpentine and the burial exercises were Paul McQuire and Paul Herbert. All students who cut class to assist were given demerits.

During the protesting period, the Fox Movietone took pictures of the demonstration and the campus.

FULLERTON, May 12.—The annual sale of fireworks prior to July 4 was planned last night when members of Fullerton post No. 2073, Veterans of Foreign Wars of United States, met in regular session at the I. The V. F. W. will co-operate with Fullerton American Legion post in sales of Buddy Poppies on Poppy day, May 26-30. Commander Ed Stark, in voicing his opinion of the effort to sell the poppies, said that the responsibility of a record breaking poppy sale does not lie with the veterans alone but concerns all and the whole community should have the conscience to contribute.

Plans now are to send the new drum and bugle corp to the convention of California and Nevada July 4, and 5. To facilitate this, Harry Felling has acquired an old large bus, which is being repainted and repaired for use in transportation.

The drum and bugle corps will participate in the opening of the new ball park on West Commonwealth tonight. Earl Veal and R. H. Decker were given the obligation by Commander Stark and were received as new members.

Twin Autos, Pretty Girl In L.B. Mixup

LAGUNA BEACH, May 12.—Jack Lee will scrutinize license numbers carefully in the future. He had the opportunity to escort a very pretty girl home from the dance the other night and appealed to Valmer (Spud) Cochran, former Tustin athlete, for the use of his coupe.

"The key is in the transmission," said "Spud," "and don't be too long."

Lee saw what he thought was Cochran's car, just where "Spud" said it would be, so he climbed in with the girl. Of course, in such cases, it is not like taking home a pal, and when Lee returned half an hour later and parked the car near the same spot he was informed by Cochran that the police were looking for him and for the car. The machine really belonged to a Los Angeles man, who had reported it as stolen to Officer H. D. Allison.

The car was used like a two peas in a pod, and the explanation of the boys satisfied the owner of the car and the officer.

"You can't expect a man, under such circumstances," said the officer, "to be paying too much attention to license numbers."

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Holmgren, who for two years have been located at Boulder City, where Mr. Holmgren was employed, are now occupying one of their two local houses. They are improving the house in which they are residing, but will eventually occupy their former home.

A family by the name of Kastrum has taken the house at the intersection of Ranch place and Barber street. The home is owned by Mr. Russell.

CITRUS DATA FOR PLACENTIA CENTER

PLACENTIA, May 12.—A report on production costs of citrus showing that costs in cultivation and water can be reduced, generally and to the benefit of the grower, but that during the past year too much cut had been made in fertilization, was given by Harold E. Wahlberg at the Placentia Farm center meeting Tuesday night. Wahlberg, county farm adviser, was principal speaker.

The Valencia crop will probably start moving the middle of June, it was reported by E. E. Campbell. Stabilization of markets is assured to great extent in the effecting of signing of citrus growers for prorating of fruit, he said.

Ralph McPadden, president of the Orange County Farm bureau, in Sacramento in the interest of the Orange county water measure, it was announced.

A scale bark control demonstration was announced for May 17 at the Harker ranch east of Placentia avenue on East North street.

TOOK PILLS FOR 30 YEARS, THEN CEREAL BROUGHT RELIEF

Mr. Forsythe Endorses ALL-BRAN for Constipation

If you suffer from headaches, loss of appetite and energy or any other of the frequent effects of constipation, read this voluntary letter:

"After taking pills and tablets for about thirty years for constipation, I started to take your ALL-BRAN three times a day according to directions. Today I can eat cheese, and that is binding, and certainly feel fine."—Mr. Ed. Forsythe, Box 219, Youngstown, N. Y.

Science says ALL-BRAN provides "bulk" to exercise the intestines, and vitamin B to further aid regular habits. In addition, ALL-BRAN is rich in blood-building iron.

The "bulk" in ALL-BRAN is much like that of leafy vegetables. Inside the body, it forms a soft mass which gently clears the intestines of wastes.

Isn't this pleasant "cereal way" far more healthful than using patent medicines—so often habit-forming?

Just eat two tablespoons daily. In serious cases use with each meal. If not relieved this way, see your doctor.

Get the red-and-green package at your grocer's. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

IRMA GOODRICH OF ORANGE IS MARRIED HERE

ANAHEIM, May 12.—In the presence of 150 guests Miss Irma Goodrich of Orange, formerly of Anaheim, was married at 8:30 o'clock yesterday morning in St. Boniface Catholic church, to Victor H. Peltzer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peltzer of Garden Grove road. The Rev. Patrick Browne officiated at the service.

With many tall white tapers lighted for the mass that followed the exchange of marriage vows the church was elaborately banked with mock orange blossoms, palms and greenery while the side altars held baskets of blossoms in the pastel colorings.

Proceeding the service an organ recital was given by Mrs. Clara Faust who also played Lohengrin's Wedding March for the entrance of the bride party. Miss Olga Peltzer, sister of the bridegroom, sang four numbers, "On This Day," by Lambillotte, "Ava Maria" by Blanchard, "O Salutaris" by Wiegand and a communion hymn by Sebott.

Entering on the arm of her brother, Stanley Goodrich of Anaheim, the bride was smartly gowned in a white wool swaggar suit with which she wore matching accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Miss Charlotte Peltzer, sister of the bridegroom, in a navy blue georgette tulle suit, with white accessories and a claudius pernet rose corsage was the maid of honor. The best man was Vincent Peltzer, brother of the bridegroom.

Immediately following the service there was a reception for 100 guests at the home of the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Peltzer. The guests were received by Mrs. Peltzer in a white crepe frock with a gardenia corsage and Miss Olga Peltzer in a white wool suit with a corsage of orchid sweet peas.

Following the reception a breakfast was held for the bride party and members of both immediate families. Covers were laid for 18 guests at the long lace covered table centered with the three tiered wedding cake that was later cut by the bride. Baskets of white and pastel flowers and lighted tapers completed the table appointments.

Following the breakfast the couple left for a ten day's wedding trip in San Francisco. For her traveling outfit she wore a becoming rose crinkle crepe gown, black hat and black and white coat.

Upon their return they will temporarily make their home in Orange and then return to Anaheim where their home will be made on Mr. Peltzer's orange ranch on Ceritos avenue. Mrs. Peltzer will continue with her work at the Orange Telephone company.

The bride was born in Anaheim, attending the local schools from which she graduated and working in the local telephone company of office until two years ago when she was transferred to Orange. Mr. Peltzer also received his education in the local schools.

WEST WINDS

Here and There in Local Sport

By EDDIE WEST

Contented Santa Ana knows that any time Coach "Tex" Oliver's material is approximately the equal of others, Santa Ana high school will win its football games. Always a jump ahead of competitors, wise Oliver has no business teaching prep, should be matching wits with such masters as Howard Jones, Ingram and others of the Pacific Coast conference.

Nevertheless when Inglewood snapped the "Tex" Oliver's string for 25 straight victories last fall it may have started a temporary depreciation of Saint stock highest on the prep mart for two seasons.

Spring practice is nearly a month away at high school, yet so far no Blowers, no Montgomerys, no Lutz's have been found. Apparently, Oliver will have to start all over again.

He will have a good tackle, maybe the best in the league, in huge Roland Williams. He will have a fine guard in rugged, massive Ford Underwood. "Red" Kilders' old place at fullback will be well manned by Art Strancke, a Casack constructed along the lines of a circus strong man. But there the sunshine ends.

None of the rest measures up to the standard of 1934-35 material. However, high hopes are held for Ray Miller, a guard who subbed last year; Paul Hales, small but mighty halfback; Bill Hawkins, a junior who may come fast enough to handle the left half, the key position down to Hill. Tanned "Tex" will return from Arizona early in June, to relieve Bill Foote as coach. Loyal Foote has been in active charge this spring, Oliver supervising by remote control. Santa Ana, of course, will continue to use the Notre Dame offense. Reason: Since adopting it, Saint teams have won 25 times, lost once.

Far be it from me to question the acumen of Fullerton educators who have budgeted athletics out of Fullerton schools next year. While more aggravated, their problem is the problem of every school district. Money is tight, gentlemen.

But I can tell them one thing: Fullerton will have inter-school sports, whether the board of education wants it or not. Fullerton's athletes will not be satisfied with intramural sports. They will manage their own programs; or they will attend school at Anaheim or Santa Ana or Brea. Wait and see.

The decline of Fullerton as an athletic power, and the district's current financial dilemma began simultaneously. Creation of a high school at Brea, embracing rich tax lands, took athletes and money from Fullerton.

Until recently Fullerton gave the big time more than its share of talent, those coming to mind Floyd Vaughan, Ted and Harry Shipkey, "Honey" Earl, "Tiny" Hartman, John and Arch Hawk-

DERBY HORSES FACE OHIO HAS CHAMPION PREAKNESS ST ARTER SCHOOLBOY RUNNER

BALTIMORE, Md., May 12.—The field for tomorrow's Preakness will be evenly matched, although sickness and training mishaps have pared the number of eligibles. Not more than 12 will compete.

Eight of the three-year-olds slated for the classic were starters in last Saturday's Kentucky Derby, and a ninth was a late scratch.

Probable starters are Broker's Tip, Derby winner; Head Play, runner-up; Ladysman, the pre-Derby favorite; and Pomponius, Kerry Patch, De Valera, Utopian, Silent Shot, Dark Winter, Poppyman, Mr. Khayyam, and Inlander. Whether the race develops into another duel between Head Play and Broker's Tip is a question, but the former is favored to win this time. Backers of Mrs. Silas Mason's colt claim their choice couldn't have lost the Derby had the race been at a mile-and-three-sixteenths, the Preakness route.

Thrice-Beaten Stars Face Whittier

CLUB READY TO LAUNCH UPHILL RACE FOR FLAG

Santa Ana's thrice-beaten Stars hope to get back into the National Night league's pennant race tonight.

They meet Whittier at the Municipal Bowl, at 8:15, and for the first time this season go into a game favored to win—although another tough contest is virtually certain.

McDonnell, once a ranking moundsman of the confederacy and "right" of the best when he is "strut," probably will be on the knoll for the invaders, although his assignment was not positively announced.

McDonnell is managing Whittier this term, and said he might decide at the last minute to start Deane Downer instead. Whittier signed Downer because the Long Beach Acorns disbanded after the earthquake.

"Bery" Wilcox, Santa Ana's leader, stated definitely that Joe Cornelius would work for the Stars. Cornelius has always been effective against Whittier, at one time enjoying a run of eleven consecutive victories over the club. The Poets finally snapped his string during the fourth quarter last summer.

Santa Ana lost its first '35 start to Anaheim by a wide margin, but dropped subsequent games to Westminster and Huntington Beach by one run. They might as well have won both times, and Wilcox believes they'll get over the hump this time, and then pick up the trail of the leaders.

Whittier's lineup features several youngsters this year, chief among these being "Rachorse" Russell.

Porter, star halfback of Whittier Hi's football team that lost to Inglewood in the Southern Cal semi-finals of '32. Porter is used in left half. McKinley, another youth, plays shortstop. A third, Nolan, operates second base.

Other positions are manned by veterans—Arley Hill, catcher; Elmer Coats, first base; "Jerry" Jertberg, third base; "Brass" Davis, left field, and Johnny Norton, right field. Norton is considered Whittier's best hitter. He was with Anaheim part of last season.

Indications are that the champion Anaheim Valencia is being leading the league after tonight's cluster of contests. Huntington Beach, only other undefeated club, goes to Torrance where Louie Neva may have too much pitching for the Dodgers entry. Westminster and Olive mingle at Olive, with the outcome a tossup. Anaheim will be heavily favored over Fullerton at Fullerton.

SAINTS' GRID GAME OFF UNTIL TUESDAY

Altering his plans in order not to interfere with Santa Ana Jaycees' Fiesta, W. W. (Bill) Foote of the physical education department postponed today's football game between two of his four high school teams until next Tuesday.

Teams No. 1 and 3, captained by Myron Newton and Waldo Smith, will clash in the first of Tuesday's games. The contest between No. 2, directed by Ford Underwood, and No. 4, by Roland Williams or Paul Hales, will immediately follow. Foote originally had paired No. 1 and 2 in the opening game.

PAUL SCHISSLER TO COACH PRO ELEVEN

CHICAGO, May 12.—(UP)—Paul Schissler, recently resigned as head coach at Oregon State, was to sign today to coach the Chicago Cardinals of the National Professional Football league.

Eastern Division New Name Of Jaycee Loop

In order to correspond with the Western division of the Southern California Junior College association, the Orange Empire conference has been changed again to "Eastern Division," its old name, according to McKee Fisk, dean of Santa Ana Junior College, and secretary of the league.

Orange Empire sounded all right to Santa Ana, Fullerton, Riverside, Chaffey, San Bernardino, Citrus and Pomona, but members of the Western division threatened to call themselves the "Metropolitan Kingdom."

The Western conference is composed of Long Beach, Compton, Santa Monica, Los Angeles, Ventura, Glendale and Pasadena.

Proving that his temporary absence caused by the flu was the main reason why Santa Ana dropped a 7-4 decision to San Bernardino, Earl Hyman of the Dons hit the strong Citrus club to give hits at Azusa last week in hurling the Cookmen to a 2-1 victory. He will pair off with Leo Baca, Riverside's big Indian chucker, here tomorrow.

Bill ("Red") McDonnell, a hustling young freshman, will catch for the Dons.

Santa Ana boasts one of the classiest infields in the league, will start at full strength against the Bengals. Fred Bell, a good hitter, will open at first base, with Veri Moyer or Hideo Higashi at second, the able Henry Thiery on short, and Freshman Joe Koral at third. If Moyer plays second, Higashi will be shifted to right field, where he operates just as efficiently. Leo More, center field, and Wendall Kanawyer or Harold Welty, left field, complete the Santa Ana lineup. Cook's decision to use Higashi in the infield indicates that both Welty and Kanawyer will start.

Looking at Primo lounge about his luxurious hotel suite today you'd never think that five or so years ago he was tramping around the French countryside with a ten-twenty-third carnival, rags for clothes and dirty socks covering his feet in lieu of shoes. Nor that less than three years ago the critics of this country had branded him not only as a fake, but a freak who had about as much chance of succeeding as a radio announcer with the lockjaw.

Dresses Like Board Chairman

Yet here he today, folding money in his pocket and dressed like a chairman of the board, little more than a month away from a crack at the heavyweight championship of the world.

He arrived from Genoa yesterday aboard the S. S. Rex, after an extended vacation in Italy—a vacation which saw him lionized by his countrymen and nicknamed for $15,000 heart balm by a waitress. The fact that he could be sued for $15,000 shows how far along he has come.

Primo declined to boast of what he would do to Jack Sharkey on the evening of June 29 in Madison Square Garden's great asphalt saucer. In fact, outside of saying he would do his best, he declined to discuss the matter at all. This was in direct contrast with his behavior in Italy where, surrounded by his followers, he talked long and often of how he would annihilate Sharkey and bring the title to Italy.

Primo will spend four or five days in New York and then leave for his training camp at Pompton Lakes, N. J. Most of his stay in New York will be devoted to sharpening up his dancing skill in the night clubs. He weighs 264 now and as that is only a pound or so over his fighting weight, he is in no hurry to get down to work.

There is a growing belief in this man's town that Primo will give the Boston square a full run for his money. More than one boxing critic has expressed the opinion to his department that Carnera will not only win, but by a knockout.

"If that big baby ever realizes how big and tough and strong he is," one veteran of the game told us, "he'll go through the heavyweight brigade like a cannonball through a tub of butter."

CRUCIAL GAMES DUE TOMORROW IN JAYSEE BALL

Major developments in the Eastern Jaycee Division conference are due tomorrow afternoon when Riverside plays at Santa Ana, Chaffey at San Bernardino, and Pomona at Fullerton in the fifth round of league baseball competition.

McDonnell match their respective Santa Ana and Riverside clubs at Poly field here, at 2:30, and the loser might as well figure itself out of the 1935 pennant chase. Each has been defeated by San Bernardino.

Proving that his temporary absence caused by the flu was the main reason why Santa Ana dropped a 7-4 decision to San Bernardino, Earl Hyman of the Dons hit the strong Citrus club to give hits at Azusa last week in hurling the Cookmen to a 2-1 victory. EL CENTRO TOP CHOICE TO WIN BIG PREP MEET

With Coach Bob Armstrong's four-man team from Central H. El Centro, a slight favorite to nose out such strong competitors as Red Los Angeles and Glendale Hoover, the annual Southern California prep track championship will be settled at the Los Angeles Coliseum tomorrow afternoon.

Santa Ana sends a five-man squad to the meet, but probably will do well to nudge into the point-making at all. Saints who qualified were Captain Floyd Montgomery, broad jump and low hurdles; Elbert Art Strancke, shot put; Bruce Swishelm, 220 yard dash, and Bill Hawkins, low hurdles. A relay team, composed of Montgomery, Swishelm, Montgomery and Major Anderson, also will run.

With a seasonal record of 22 feet, 2 inches, Montgomery appears to have the best chance of the small Saint troupe. He has an outside chance to win, with his greatest opposition coming from El Centro's Leo Madlem, South Pasadena's Patchem and several Los Angeles city jumpers who have done better than 22 feet.

Intercollegiate observers predict that the meet will be the best in many years, with a possibility of new records in every event except the 880, pole vault and broad jump. Below are the meet records, one of which is in the name of Ray Cartwright, Santa Ana's captain and premier half-miler of 1932:

100—09.7—Dubby Holt, (Hoover) 1932.

220—21.4—Frank Wyckoff, (Glendale), 1927; George Anderson (Mul Tech), 1932.

440—48.8—John McCarthy (Fairfax), 1931.

880—1:55.6—Ray Cartwright (Santa Ana), 1932.

1 Mile—4:29.6—Chesley Unruh (El Monte), 1927.

120-yard high hurdle—15.0—Jeddy Welsh (Pasadena), 1927.

220-yard low hurdles—23.8—Jimmy Payne (San Bernardino), 1924.

880-yard relay—1:28.2—Los Angeles Poly, 1931.

Field Events

High jump—6 ft. 3 5/8 in.—Cornelius Johnson (Los Angeles High), 1932.

Broad jump—23 ft. 1-4 in.—Mella Almada (Los Angeles High), 1931.

Pole vault—13 ft. 3 5/8 inches—Bill Sefton (Los Angeles Poly), 1932.

Shot put—54 ft. 7 in.—John Lyman (Santa Monica), 1930.

Coliseum Rent Dispute Near Decision

LOS ANGELES, May 12.—(UP)—The dispute between the University of Southern California, County Board of Supervisors and the Sixth Agricultural association over use of the Los Angeles Coliseum for the Southern California Stanford football game Nov. 11, appeared to near an end today.

The agricultural association withdrew its demand for one-third of all gross receipts and substituted an offer of a flat $27,500 sum a year as its share of Coliseum receipts. The association said it would need this amount to operate and maintain its buildings in Exposition park where the Coliseum is located.

Previously President Rufus B. Von KleinSmid of U. S. C. threatened to schedule the game elsewhere, probably the Pasadena Rose Bowl, if contract agreements could not be reached.

For nearly two weeks, intermittent rains have drenched State College stadium, where the meet will be held. Cold, raw winds and temperatures which brought overcoats from their summer mothballs, added to the gloom.

However, if the local government weather forecaster is right, tomorrow will be somewhat clearer and somewhat warmer—not as warm as could be desired, but fairly pleasant.

The schedule calls for preliminaries in junior college and high school events to begin at 10 a. m., to be followed by finals at 1:30 p. m.

Trials and preliminaries in the college and university classes begin at 3:30 p. m. and conclude about 4:30 p. m.

Finals for the university and college squads begin at 7 p. m. in the field events and 7:15 in the track events. The relay will conclude around 10:30 p. m., it is expected.

The best meet in several years is predicted by officials. As proof of their idea, they offered the following:

Hables, Stanford's sprinter, has done the century in 9.7 seconds; so have Salvato and Taylor of San Jose State. Hables, it was pointed out, has been reported on the sick list and may not compete, leaving the field practically open, as far as a record is concerned.

Trojan high-jumpers, McNaughton, Olympic champion, and Van Osdel, are expected to clear 6:6. Marty of Fresno State has cleared this figure repeatedly and recently just missed 6:8.

Messers, Mattom and Williamson, with javelin tosses of 209 and 205 feet, respectively, are expected to watch with envy and admiration the performances of Cunningham of San Jose State, who has done 212 feet.

The broad jump also was believed to be in the collegians' list. Floyd Wilson of Fresno and Doug Taylor of San Jose each have jumped 24 feet this year.

SEACORD SHUTS OUT BREA NINE, FANS 17

BY NORMAN WATSON

Under leaden skies, Tustin Hi's softball team shutout Brea-Olinda, 9-0, on the Brea diamond yesterday.

Wilson Seacord, premier Orange league pitcher, rose to great heights in the one-sided contest, striking out 17 and allowing only 2 scratch hits.

Seacord established some sort of a record when he fanned the entire team, nine men consecutively in the first three innings. The spell was broken in the fourth on a high foul by the leadoff man, which Wilson buckled down and whiffed the next two batters to retire the side. Seacord was robbed of a no-hit game on a bunt and a questionable decision.

The score:

THE TINYMITES
STORY BY MAL COLEMAN—ILLUSTRATIONS BY KING

The wooden shoe sailed on and on, and shortly the old witch was gone from sight and Duncy smiled and said, "Well, how about it, bunch?"

"Our girl friends were in quite a plight, but they've escaped and they're all right. Why not give me some credit, since the whole scheme was my hunch?"

One of the little girls then said, "We must admit you used your head. Of course we're very thankful, and we're glad we've met you, too."

"But are we travel very far, please tell us, lads, just who you are," "We're Tinymites," said Scouty, with a smile. "Now, who are you?"

"You're Tinymites?" one girl snapped. "Gee! That's very strange, 'cause that is the color of my hair."

FLAPPER FANNY SAYS:

Daylight saving is just a waste of time to young lovers.

"And mine is Dotty. That, I guess is 'cause I wear a dotted dress," exclaimed the other little girl. "My, this whole thing is rare. We left the land of Tinymites and started out to see the sights. We've been to lots of places and we've had a lot of fun."

"The shoe that we are riding in came from one place where we'll tell you of the funny things we've done."

"We, too, have traveled," Coppy said. "Below the sea and over-head!" And then each of the Tinymites told the girls what his name was.

"Oh, my," said Dotty. "This is fun. Think of the things that can be done. We'll travel, now, together, like a band of gypsies does."

Just then the monstrous wooden shoe tipped down. The next thing they knew, it landed on some water. It was big enough to float. "Hurrah!" cried Duncy. "This is grand. We'll shortly find some place to land! Who'd ever think that this old shoe would be just like a boat?"

CLINIC IS HELD

TALBERT, May 12.—The largest number of children to be examined at the baby clinic at the Colonia Juarez center was registered at the May clinic, there being 44 children and 24 mothers present. Dr. Feddis of the county force and a county nurse attended the children. Visitors of the afternoon included Professor Jones of the high school and three of the trustees, Messrs. Grabel, Warner and Wilson.

Several of the local Mexican group who have worked in the dramatization class with Mrs. Florence Summers, Americanization teacher, assisted in the program given Friday evening at Costa Mesa by Americanization pupils.

-- News Behind the News --

WASHINGTON

There is trouble underneath in the cabinet.

Somewhat strong differences have quietly developed between the right and left wings of Mr. Roosevelt's official household. Nothing is being said openly about it yet and probably nothing ever will be. Yet the cloakrooms in congress are buzzing with the news about cabinet debates on inflation, international affairs and the public works bill.

This is what started the current rumor you may have heard about State Secretary Hull resigning.

Also what boomed the similar rumor a few weeks back that Treasury Secretary Woodin was on his way out.

You may take it for granted there will be no resignations. At least not at this time. But the inner situation is interesting—and important.

The rumor about Hull originated in financial quarters after the recent conference Mr. Roosevelt held with European statesmen. What inspired the half-baked suspicions was the sad look Mr. Hull has been wearing on his face. Mr. Hull never gets angry. When disappointed, he becomes sad. He is sad now.

The truth is he has been considerably disillusioned by the way Europeans have greeted our efforts to be helpful in world affairs. When the Europeans were here he found they said never a word about the great Christian principle of disarmament. They always wanted to know what they were going to get out of something—tariffs, war debts and what not.

That left the high-principled Mr. Hull somewhat at sea. He did not know how to deal with these fellows. He cannot even shuffle a deck of cards, much less deal an ace off the bottom now and then. It clearly was not his game.

Those behind the curtains know hard-boiled Prof. Moley stepped into the breach. Apparently he goes on the supposition that foreign statesmen are nothing but politicians with smooth tongues and high hats. Christian principles are part of their lingo but not part of their characters. If you start turning the other cheek in one of these international conferences they will slap you all over the place. Those boys have no restraint. They think nationalism supercedes Christianity.

That may be one of the reasons why Mr. Roosevelt has let it be buzzed around that he will make Moley the vice chairman at the London Economic conference. Hull will of course be chairman. But up to now there has never been a position of vice chairman in such conferences.

That fact does not make Mr. Hull any gladder.

The inside situation about Hull, however, is just about what it was on Woodin a few weeks ago. Both are mild-mannered men. Their views on inflation did not follow those of the administration. Other things have happened to make them unhappy. There is, however, no question in their minds that Mr. Roosevelt is the boss. Their loyalty to him will come first. They will not flare up and go off half-cooked. They certainly will NOT quit as long as Mr. Roosevelt says he needs them. After a while when things die down they may ask to be relieved. Until then they will ardently deny that they could ever think of such a thing.

BONDS

More cabinet difficulty came on public works. They got around to some fairly strong arguing back-stage on the amount involved. Mr. Roosevelt thought a billion and a half would be enough. So did Treasury Secretary Woodin. They were worried about the government bond market with all this inflation coming on.

The Progressives wanted more. The views of Lady Perkins, Ickes, Wallace and Dern ran all the way up to six billion.

That is what was behind the activities of Senators LaFollette, Cutting and Costigan. They offered a six billion dollar bill at a time when they and everyone else knew Mr. Roosevelt wanted a billion and a half.

You may have noticed Senator Wagner was not in on the bill. He has had charge of such legislation for the administration heretofore.

The reason for that was Wagner wanted to go higher than Roosevelt but not as high as LaFollette-Cutting-Costigan. He privately offered a compromise of three billion or four billion but this did not satisfy the contestants.

To an innocent by-stander it appears Mr. Roosevelt had the better argument. You could not possibly spend six billion in legitimate public works during the next year. You could hardly spend all of a billion and a half. Those things take time, if you do them right. Of course you could spend six billion in fifteen minutes if you did not care where it went.

Personally Mr. Roosevelt is worried about possible charges that his program is a pork barrel. The Republicans made such a charge stick when Garner popped up with a smaller similar plan at the last session.

Mr. Roosevelt will not lay himself open to such a charge again.

MISFIRE

Confidential complaints about bank examiners continue to pour into the treasury headquarters. One spectacular charge is being run down.

It accused a certain examiner of taking a $25,000-a-year job as president of a bank in return for opening the bank. A higher official is said to have closed the bank again when he found out about the deal. The examiner was fired as president, but the chief examiner of the district is supposed to have required that the bank pay a year's salary to the examiner. The bank is out $25,000 and is still closed.

NOTES

Speaking of omens, the tip is that our delegation to the World Economic Conference will sail May 31 on the S. S. Roosevelt. . . . Congressman Dirksen of Illinois deserves a hand. . . . He declined to follow the usual subterfuge of congressmen and frankly announced in an extension of his remarks in the Congressional Record (May 4) that he did not make the speech to the house but wrote it later and put it in the Record. . . . For the first time since the new administration came in the White House gates were locked against the Scottsboro demonstrators. . . . One look at the excited faces of the demonstrators was enough for the police to call for the locks. . . .

NEW YORK
By James McMillin

ROOSEVELT

New York is ready to concede that Roosevelt rules the (ether) waves. His Sunday night broadcast had the miraculous inside effect of soothing the conservative without killing the enthusiasm of the radicals. He is credited with having the smartest sense of public relations of any president in our history.

The president's advice to disregard speculative fluctuations is rated timely. Expert opinion is growing that the stock market is due to hit the chutes and hopes the country won't take it too seriously. The flight from the dollar is over and the tendency among the big fellows is to wait and see what next before going deeper into speculative commitments.

Of course you can dig up plenty of criticism that the president wasn't specific enough. But most of Wall Street realizes that specificity is the one thing he cannot be if he is to retain essential freedom of action.

INDUSTRY

Two aspects of the industrial program are counted as certain. Something like the 30-hour week will be made effective in every industry that can stand it, and profits will not be allowed to expand at the expense of wages.

A strong faction here is pulling wires for the appointment of Bernard Baruch as a member of the industrial control board—if possible its chief. They want him as an antidote to the professors. There is some doubt whether the wires will work.

RE-EMPLOYMENT

The inside goal on jobs is to get six million of the unemployed back to work by the end of the year. There will be no official announcement.

GROWERS GET 60 CENT PER BOX REFUND

Including several hundred Orange county avocado growers, approximately 800 Southern California growers will receive late this week a very substantial surprise "dividend" from marketing cooperatively this season, Carl V. Newman, Santa Ana-Orange district director and president of the Calavo Growers' Exchange, announced here today. This "dividend" or partial refund will bring local growers about 1.5 cents per pound in addition to all pool payments, on all the 1,185,000 pounds of fruit handled from October to March inclusive.

This large 60-cents-per-box refund will also extend over the remainder of the season's tonnage, the refund for each month after March being added to the final pool returns, Newman declared. In addition to this partial refund and to the pool returns, a final refund will be made at the end of the season, also over all fruit received during the season irrespective of grade.

Growers to Get $40,000
Five local grower payments, amounting to about $40,000, will be mailed at the end of the month, making possible a mailing economy. The payments include the partial refund, the 1932 revolving fund, a partial on this season's by-product pool, and a final and a partial monthly pool payment, Newman said.

With exchange members' selling costs for next season probably to be 20 per cent less than the average non-cooperative costs by reason of the large crop now indicated to be setting, an enthusiastic grower membership campaign will be launched in the near future, Newman said.

KREG BROADCASTS HEARD IN SHANGHAI

Residents of Shanghai, China, regularly listen to and enjoy programs broadcast by radio station KREG, in this city, according to word received here today. The information was given Eric E. Eastman, assistant farm advisor, by Nilean Tucker, who just returned from Shanghai, where he spent some time as the member of the crew of a freighter in the China trade.

Tucker visited Eastman and told him that while in Shanghai he picked up KREG broadcasts regularly under sponsorship of the agricultural extension service.

MONEY—FROM THE STONE AGE TILL NOW

By WILLIS THORNTON
Sketches by Art Krenz

When the Civil War broke out, the government again faced a lack of tax revenue to carry on the war. It began issuing paper money, or "greenbacks." At first it intended to redeem these in coin, but soon there were too many of them.

No sooner were they issued than the greenbacks began to depreciate. Not only gold and silver dollars but even minor coin were driven out of circulation, and first business firms and then the government itself had to issue paper, nickels, dimes and quarters, derisively called "shinplasters."

By 1864, greenbacks were worth only 35 cents on the dollar. But the debtors of the '60s and '70s, like those of '75-1900 (and those of 1929-1933) demanded more money to pay their debts. Sporadic attempts to retire greenbacks by paying coin for them met only moderate success.

It took until 1879 for the country to "grow up to its currency." Export of bumper crops brought enough gold into the country so that at last the greenbacks became redeemable in gold. But they remained in circulation, being reissued when turned in for payment in coin. (Next: The World Turns to Gold.)

29 PER CENT OF CITY TAXES STILL UNPAID

With a total of $366,759.99 paid in city taxes so far this year for the 1932-33 fiscal year, a balance of $160,043.84 is still outstanding in city taxes, according to City Auditor Lloyd Banks.

Transformed into percentages, 71 per cent of the city taxes have been paid, according to the figures, and 29 per cent is still unpaid. The figures are based on computations made April 20.

Extension for the time of paying taxes without penalties which has been declared, means that taxpayers have until June 20 to make payments before penalties on delinquent taxes are levied.

After June 20 a 10 per cent penalty is levied for the first installment taxes unpaid, and a 5 per cent penalty for the second installment, which means a total of 15 per cent on the year's taxes if not paid by that date. If taxes are not paid by July 1, when the fiscal year ends, an additional penalty of 10 per cent is levied.

AQUEDUCT FETE TO DRAW SANTA ANANS

Several well known Santa Ana persons will leave here early tomorrow to attend the celebration slated to mark the commencement of work on the Colorado river aqueduct at Cabazon.

They include Col. S. H. Finley, Mrs. Finley and son and O. H. Barr, J. A. Smart, J. B. Baumgartner and A. J. Crookshank. The group will go together in two cars, it was announced.

Cabazon is five miles east of Banning. Elaborate entertainment and ceremonies are planned for the event.

Finley declared today that persons who desired to make the trip could follow him, as he is taking a new direct road to Cabazon which is expected to save considerable time.

GIRL SCOUTS TO BE GIVEN HONOR AWARDS

With one-third of the group scheduled to receive awards, 85 Girl Scouts, representing the three troops of the city, will take part in a Court of Awards to be held Saturday evening at 7 o'clock near Irvine park tennis courts. It was made known today by Mrs. R. R. Russick, captain of troop No. 1.

All of the girls are to take part in the program, which will follow a picnic supper to be served between 5:30 and 6 o'clock. Parents and friends of the girls are to participate in the events of the evening.

Twenty second class awards are to be made. Many of the Scouts have qualified for badges which apply on points for first class ranking. These awards will include: eight housekeepers, three swimmers, seven health winners, two life savers, five junior citizens, one bugler, one home nurse, three athletes and one first aid.

The majority of the girls taking part have been Scouts for little more than a year. It was stated today. Troop captains include Mrs. Russick, No. 1; Mrs. R. C. Harris, No. 2; and Mrs. Rose Luz, No. 3.

Table covers, coffee, cream and sugar for the supper are being provided by the Girl Scout central committee, composed of Mrs. Clarence Tedford, chairman; Mrs. R. H. Snyder, program chairman; Mrs. A. W. Rutan, camp chairman; Mrs. B. G. Tutthill, publicity; Mrs. Ira Webber, Miss Florence Schultz, Mrs. Arthur Lorette and Mrs. Carl Meek.

A court of awards and program will be presented around an open campfire. This is a postponed event, originally planned for March.

Artist Jailed by Federal Officers

William H. Robinson, artist, has been lodged in the county jail to await transportation to McNeil's Island, where he will serve an eight-year sentence on counterfeiting charges. He had been out of prison for but one year when he was arrested and convicted by federal authorities in Los Angeles.

ANNUAL COST STUDY SHOWS AVERAGE GROSS PROFIT PER ACRE OF $91 ON WALNUTS

Despite the fact that 1932 was the best crop year experienced by Orange county walnut growers, a price level 26 per cent lower than that of 1931 caused an average net loss of $25.28 per acre, according to figures of the fourth annual cost and efficiency analysis on walnut production, announced today by Harold E. Wahlberg, Orange county farm advisor. The gross profit per acre, however, averaged $91.05.

Figures in the report were compiled by the agricultural extension service from data taken from the records of a group of representative walnut growers in the county.

The analysis is prefaced by Wahlberg, who says: "The crop year of 1932 was the best experienced by local growers since 1929. Yields and quality obtained last year were almost the same as those of 1929, although prices in 1932 were about 26 per cent lower."

"These lower prices have been met in part by reduced production costs, but not fully. Last year's return made possible a capital and management income of 4.5 per cent on the investment. In 1929 this return was 8.4 per cent. Capital and management income is the net income above all expenses, not including interest on investment. In other words, it is the net income which can be considered to be the result of management and investment of capital after all cash costs and depreciation have been met and the operator has been reimbursed for his labor at the going wage rate for work actually performed by him."

Costs Listed
According to the report, the total cash cost per acre for 1932 was $216.67. The income per acre averaged at $191.39, leaving an average net loss per acre of $25.28. Total cash costs per acre, including labor, material and overhead, was averaged at $190.34. An additional $16.44 per acre was charged for depreciation, making a total cost of $118.78. The total cost was reached through addition of $99.89 per acre for interest on the investment.

Total cash costs in 1932 were higher than 1931, due to greater harvesting and material costs. Cultural labor costs remained about the same. Income above cash costs last year averaged $91.05 per acre, the second best year in the four-year comparison.

There were 22 orchards used in this year's study, of which 11 were listed as the profitable group and 11 listed as unprofitable. The profitable group represented 148 acres, with 161 acres in the unprofitable group, making a total of 309 acres. The profitable group showed 55.1 per cent of the orchards budded and 14.4 per cent of the unprofitable group was budded, making an average of 34.6 per cent of the entire group listed as budded.

High Yield Per Acre
The profitable group of orchards returned a total yield of 295 pounds per acre, of which 84.5 per cent was marketable. The unprofitable group returned 2297 pounds, with 78.6 per cent marketable. The average marketable portion of the yield of all orchards in the study was 81.6 per cent.

Groups Compared
While Orange county showed a net loss of $25.28 per acre, the loss in Los Angeles county was averaged at $49.69 per acre, and in San Bernardino was averaged at $13.78 per acre. Stanislaus county orchards showed an average net profit of $22.58 per acre.

In Orange county, where the rainfall was 19.5 inches, there were 21.6 acre inches of water used. In Los Angeles, with 15.9 inches rainfall, 15.7 acre inches of water was used, and in San Bernardino there was 15.2 inches of rainfall with 19.9 acre inches of water used. In Stanislaus county, where the rainfall totaled by 8.4 inches, no additional water was used. The report was closed with the statement that "Present price levels make it more essential than ever to produce walnuts at a minimum cost per unit. Expenditures for essential operations should not be reduced to the extent of depreciating yield or quality of fruit. Care should be taken to evaluate reductions that returns will not be reduced more than the savings effected."

WALNUT DIALOGUE ON AIR NEXT WEEK

The schedule of daily radio talks given on agriculture and allied subjects, under the auspices of the Agricultural Extension service and station KFI, was announced today by Farm Advisor Harold E. Wahlberg for the week beginning May 15. The talks are presented at noon each day, as follows:

May 15—"Vaccination for Laryngotracheitis," L. D. Sanborn, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county. May 16—"Summer Vegetable crops for Sandy Soils," E. H. Ernst, assistant farm advisor, Los Angeles county. May 18—"Trees of Our Southern California Mountains," George Armstrong, senior ranger, United States Forest service. May 19—"Nursery Stock Inspection," A. H. Call, agricultural commissioner, Ventura county. May 20—"New Law on Walnut Standardization," a dialogue by F. M. Kramer, state department of agriculture, and A. W. Christie, California Walnut Growers' association.

DROP SHOWN IN MATERNAL DEATH RATE

Through education and improved care of expectant mothers Orange county is steadily reducing its maternal death rate.

According to a bulletin of the California state department of public health recently received by Dr. Kenneth Sutherland, county health officer, statistics compiled in a state report reveal that in Orange county there were but 3 maternal deaths during 1932 as compared to 11 in the previous 12-month period. This places the county rate at 4.0 for 1932, as against 4.3 for the previous year. There were two deaths in the city of Santa Ana.

The reduction in maternal deaths also was recorded for the state as a whole with a total of 448 deaths, or a rate of 5.7 as compared with 510 such deaths in 1931 when the rate was 6.2. Despite the lack of hospital facilities, as compared to some of the more populated counties, 13 counties, mostly in the northern part of the state had no maternal deaths during the last year. The counties with perfect records included Alpine, Colusa, Del Norte, El Dorado, Inyo, Lake, Lassen, Mariposa, Plumas, San Benito, Sierra and Trinity. At the same time most of the major cities of the state had rates lower than that for the state as a whole. Long Beach was credited with the low maternal death rate of 3.5; Oakland and San Francisco, 4.8; San Diego, 4.2; Sacramento, 5.3. Santa Ana was 5.3. The Los Angeles rate was 7.2, a substantial decrease, however, from the 9.1 rating of the previous year when there were 161 maternal deaths.

MRS. FLOOD AND H. G. SERENE ARE BRIDGE VICTORS

Mrs. W. A. Flood and H. G. Serene are just 5426 points better than any other duplicate contract bridge team in Santa Ana today if the figures released on their final match with John Newcomer and Robert Sandon are not fabricating. The wind-up was fought on neutral grounds in the Richard A. Emison home, North Park boulevard, Tuesday night. Serene, tournament manager, declared the victory large, but the gate nil.

A trophy inscribed with the proper data will be presented Mrs. Flood and Serene Wednesday night when candidates for the individual bridge crown meet for the fifth season of their 20-round tournament at the Green Cat cafe. The present winners were victorious in the first bridge tournament to be staged in Santa Ana, which was designated as a "pair championship." Ted Fulkerson will present the trophy, according to present plans.

Statistics on the final match indicate that Mrs. Flood and Serene bid and made 14 games against their opponents' eight, and won on 12 boards, broke even on two and lost six.

Santa Ana Agency Wins Silver Cup

For leading all other Southern California agencies during the month of April in percentages above quotas, Major X. Anderson, manager of the George Belsky company, distributors for General Electric refrigerators and other General Electric equipment, has on display at the company offices on Broadway a handsome silver cup.

The cup is two feet in height and will be kept here until some other agency shows a better record than the Santa Ana office. "Winning the cup merely shows that business in Santa Ana is on the upturn and that there are bright prospects for a most successful summer business," said Anderson.

Lower than that for the state as a whole, Long Beach was credited with the low maternal death rate of 3.5; Oakland and San Francisco, 4.8; San Diego, 4.2; Sacramento, 5.3. Santa Ana was 5.3. The Los Angeles rate was 7.2, a substantial decrease, however, from the 9.1 rating of the previous year when there were 161 maternal deaths.

Ah, for the Good Old Days!

We sigh for the good old Santa Ana custom of merrymaking on Straw Hat Day! What fun to swack the felt hats of passersby into the nearest mud puddle! The noive some men had to wear a felt down Fourth Street in those days! And it was good for biz-ness! Increased the sales of straw hats no end! Well, we must be getting soft! Such as it is these days, we present "Straw Hat Day" Saturday, the 13th! And the prices are sure enough like old times!

City Council Parodied By Women at Forum Presentation

An imaginary city council meeting, at which various members of the Santa Ana Women's Forum represented the several council officials, was cleverly staged Tuesday when the forum met in the lovely home of Mrs. U. H. Plavan, 2635 North Main street.

Mrs. Plavan was luncheon hostess preceding the business meeting, at which Miss Hester Covington presided. Mrs. A. Bauer of Orange was present as a new member, while guests were Mrs. John Bower and Mrs. N. E. Mayhill, former members. In discussing the preceding meeting, as forum critic, Mrs. John Clarkson pointed out that no speaker should fear failure.

The mock council meeting had been outlined by Mrs. J. W. Murray, program chairman, who had assigned the role of toastmistress to Mrs. Sam Hurwitz. Mrs. Hurwitz won praise from the forum critics for her careful preparation and for her skillful introduction of speakers.

Humorous presentations of council plans were made by Mrs. R. R. Russick, as mayor; Mrs. T. P. McKee, as police commissioner; Dr. Julia Hinrichs, as city clerk; and Mrs. Charlotte Wallace, as city engineer.

An international relations program will be arranged for the next meeting, Mrs. Murray announced.

Cards and refreshments were enjoyed during the evening by Press club members, Sam Church, Harry Clayton, Russ Harrington, Clayton McKee, Gene Robb, Jimmy Torrens, George Lake, George Farquhar, Melvin Wiseman, Clarence Patmore, Ray Forrest, Edgar M. Flowers, advisor, and three guests, Miss Fern Mel, Joe Morris and Jimmy Farquhar.

Gifts Showered Upon Engaged Couple at Bridge Party

Complimenting their brother, Kemper Taylor, and his charming fiancée, Miss Helen Beahrs, Mr. and Mrs. J. William Taylor Jr. entertained last night at a delightfully intimate little pre-nuptial shower and bridge party in their home, 901 South Ross street.

It seemed that the abundant spring flowers lent themselves completely to Mrs. Taylor's decorative theme of rainbows, their lovely colorings gave brightening tables at the close of bridge play. Prizes in the contest went to Mrs. Severin Schulte and Leslie Steffensen, holders of high scores, and Miss Laura Taylor, low.

For the refreshment interval, Mrs. Taylor developed some one of the more delicate rainbow colors at each table, making all details of flowers, linens and service, conform to the effect. As a happy surprise feature for the two honor guests, they were showered with miscellaneous gifts at the conclusion of the supper hour.

Mr. and Mrs. Taylor received as guests in addition to Miss Beahrs and Kemper Taylor, Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Steffensen, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Stanley, Miss Laura Taylor and Miss Jane Beahrs.

A third contributor was Mrs. Mary Cowley, who gave an appropriate reading.

Miss Bessie Potter, vice grand, presided capably during the meeting, at which guests were Mr. and Mrs. Edward Noonan of Oklahoma lodge, Lawton, Okla., and Miss Mabel Morning and Mrs. Nellie Dayton, both of Zimla lodge, Washington, Ia.

Decorations of sweet peas and roses appointed lodge room and the banquet room, to which members and guests repaired for strawberry pie and coffee at the meeting's end. Refreshments were served by a committee under Mrs. Floyd Spencer, chairman.

McKinley P.-T. A. members were in a flurry of preparation today for the benefit play to be given tonight in Willard auditorium, by young people of the St. Peter Lutheran church. The play, "Mother Mine," was selected as being especially appropriate to the Mother's Day observance of Sunday, May 14, and is said to be a cleverly presented story in which the cast does excellent work. Nominal charges are being made for tickets, and the McKinley association expects to receive a gratifying sum to be applied to the milk fund of the school. The program will begin promptly at 7:30 o'clock, the early hour chosen so that school children might attend.

Fellowship Projects Praised by Speaker For A.A.U.W.

Visiting the Orange county branch of the American Association of University Women in the name of the Fellowship department of that organization, Mrs. Birney Donnell of Los Angeles yesterday amply fulfilled her mission by building a new enthusiasm in local members for the national fellowship project. Mrs. Donnell's talk was a happy aspect of a Fellowship tea presented as a final branch undertaking in the home of Mrs. Charles C. Brisco, president, 421 East Bishop street.

Mrs. Brisco, who retires this month from a two-year term as president, presided for the last time, thanking her associates for their work during her office. Similar appreciation later was expressed by members for Mrs. Brisco's enthusiastic service. Miss Mabel McFadden, incoming president, was unable to be present owing to her absence in Astoria. Officers proposed last month were elected by acclamation.

Introduced by Mrs. Harold Girtori, branch fellowship chairman, Mrs. Donnell, who heads this department for the South Pacific section of the association, argued in behalf of fellowships by citing the accomplishments of Fellows with whom she has enjoyed individual contact. She declared fellowships an aid not alone to deserving women scholars, but also to the cause of international relations by reason of the fields to which research workers are led.

Mrs. Donnell paid tribute to university women as a broadminded group able, individually, to present and weigh views without prejudice and quarrel. She declared fellowships awarded on basis of individual fitness and type of work proposed, rather than on the district represented.

Prior to the talk members were treated to a musical interval during which Mrs. Holmes Bishop, soprano of this city and Orange, sang several spring songs accompanied by Mrs. Barry McFhee. Her selections were "Song in Spring" and "May Eve" by Mathews, "Her Rose" (Combs) and an encore, "Canterbury Bells" (Beasley).

Reporting for the group on International-mindedness which recently completed its study and forwarded a summary of findings to the national association, to convene in Minneapolis this month, Mrs. Edith Thatcher discussed the seminar's work. Seminar proposals to promote international understanding were for more study groups, a greater emphasis of the subject in club programs, instruction of young people, further use of the radio and participation in world conferences.

Invited to the dining room, where a table was charmingly appointed with pansies and candles of yellow and lavender coloring, members shared a tea menu dispensed by Mrs. John Tessimann and Miss Anna Trythall under the supervision of Miss Lillian Dickson, chairman.

Coreopsis Members Meet for Needlework

Present were Mrs. Sarah Matthews, Mrs. Hubbard, Mrs. Jennie Beckman, Mrs. John Pieper, Mrs. Molly Smith, and two special guests, Mrs. Flint W. Eddy and Mrs. Lee Whitaker.

Mrs. Molly T. Smith will entertain the club at its next meeting in her home in Tustin.

Leader Re-elected at Section Program on Drama's History

Leader of the Junior Ebell Music and Drama section during the past year, Miss Mary Bowyer was re-elected this office Tuesday night at the final meeting of the group, which featured a splendid address by Mrs. Robert Northcross, "The History of the Drama." Spoton members and guests had as their hostess Mrs. J. P. Sidford, who opened her home at 1216 North Bristol street for the section.

Other delightful phases of entertainment were the puppet sketches, "The Minuet" and "The Gift" for which appropriately costumed marionettes were manipulated by Miss Mary Bowyer, with the aid of Miss Leone Baxter and Miss Ruth Hilyard.

The program was concluded socially with an informal period in which joined Meadames Robert C. Northcross, J. P. Sidford, E. F. Bruning, Newell Moore, George Glover, Frederick C. Elliott, George Walker, E. Truesdale, Robert Heffner, Lynn Crawford, M. M. Bryte, Miss Leone Baxter, Miss Ruth Hilyard and the leader, Miss Mary Bowyer.

Playmates Are Invited To Birthday Party

Little Floydene Alexander, three years old on Tuesday, May 9, had the delightful experience of a birthday party that afternoon, when her mother, Mrs. C. J. Alexander, entertained in their home, 1419 West First street.

Children hidden to the merry party, enjoyed games on the lawn as a prelude to the refreshment hour within the home, rivaling the garden with its snapdragons and other flowers in orchid, pink and yellow. Ice cream and cake were served, with dainty nut cups in pastel tones as favors for the small guests.

Mrs. Alexander was assisted by her mother, Mrs. L. J. Swartz, in arranging the games which the little people enjoyed, but their most entertaining moment came when they gathered around little Miss Floydene as she opened her birthday packages and saw her many pretty gifts.

Mrs. Alexander joined the party for the refreshment hour, and to enjoy the pleasures shared by Floydene with Kathryn Baber, Lola Jean Alexander, Katherine Brickley, Patsy May, Helen Tidball, Donald Kim, Erma Swartz and Lucella Swartz. Mothers attending included in addition to Floydene's mother and grandmother, Mrs. Alexander and Mrs. Swartz, Mrs. Ralph H. Baber and Mrs. R. L. Alexander.

Relief Corps

With 14 officers and 11 members in attendance, a meeting of Sedgwick W. R. C. was held Wednesday afternoon in Knights of Pythias hall. Mrs. Julia Cozad, president, was in charge of the session.

It was reported that 42 calls had been made; 15 bouquets and one birthday cake distributed. It was announced that W. R. C. federation No. 1 will meet in Fullerton Monday, May 22 in I. O. O. F. hall.

Wednesday, May 24, was announced as the next date for a benefit luncheon to precede the regular meeting of the corps.

Order of Beauceant

Beauceant Circle members held a social afternoon of cards and sewing Wednesday following a covered-dish luncheon served at noon in Masonic temple. Mrs. J. H. Shaw, Mrs. B. Uttley and other members assisted in various duties during the affair.

Prize winners in the card games were Mrs. Hugh Wiley and Mrs. H. MacVicker Smith, who scored first and second high, and Mrs. Henry Diers, who was consoled.

S. A. Players Schedule Presentations Through Summer Months

Tentative plans to hold Barn meetings during July and August were adopted at the meeting of the Santa Ana Community Players association last night when 100 members and guests assembled for the final meeting but one of the Players' regular calendar. R. Carson Smith is arranging the last formal season's program, to be presented June 1, when a talk on playwriting technique, by an outside speaker, will be featured with two one-act plays.

A span of some 200 years lay between the eras of the two plays developed for last night's meeting, Mona Summers Smith's presentation of a play of current setting preceding a brief one-act laid in the mid-eighteenth century, directed by Gladys Simpson Shaffer. Radically different in setting and theme, as well as in mode of presentation, the two offerings, together with a demonstration of theater make-up by Mrs. Warren Fletcher, composed an appealingly varied program.

Mrs. Fletcher's lesson in stage cosmetics was illustrated graphically with an application of grease paint on Wylie Carlyle, member of the evening's cast. Questions proposed from the audience added to the value and entertainment of the quarter-hour.

Mrs. Smith brought to bear her experience in local play productions in reviewing the modern drama, whose argument she developed by sketch and by reading. Her excellent interpretation of the present-day drama found an interesting foil in the delicate presentation of the poetic play, "The Beau of Bath," by Constantine D'Arcy Mackay, which closed the evening's program. Of graceful setting and sensitive portrayal, the sketch of an imagined incident in Beau Nash's later years was nicely played by Wylie Carlyle, Edith Ellis and Bob Northcross.

Refreshments were served by a committee consisting of Meadames E. D. White, M. B. Wellington, Robert Speed, T. E. Stephenson, Ralph Livespire, Miss Hazel Nell Bemis, Miss Marian Bruner and Faris Edgar.

Faholo Class Mothers Are Complimented

Complimenting their mothers, real or borrowed for the occasion, Faholo class members of the First Baptist church entertained Monday night at a buffet supper and program in the social rooms of the church. Tables were charmingly decorated with roses in varied shades scattered loosely over the snowy linen, and with each guest's place marked by a corsage bouquet.

Mrs. Leslie Steffenson, as general chairman, had the assistance of the class president, Miss Ruth Sanford, and various committees in carrying out hospitable plans. Mrs. Eleanor Newcomer served as supper committee chairman; Mrs. L. E. Coffman and her committee planned the table decorations; Mrs. Ada Cave and Mrs. Leah Elliott made the pretty corsages, and other plans were carried out by the committee as a whole, Mrs. Dorothy Dennis, Miss May Rose Borum and Mrs. John Swanke.

Miss Irene Catlap, toastmistress, had planned a clever program in which toasts proposed were such as to recall happy memories to each mother present. Mrs. Swanke's theme was "To the Little Girl of Seven"; Mrs. Hugh Neighbor toasted "The Little Girl of 14"; Mrs. Roy Winchester proposed the "Girl of 21," and Miss Laura Joiner, "The Girl of 28." Mrs. Harry Evans Owings concluded this pretty ritual with a toast "To All Mothers."

Additional entertainment was offered by Miss Mildred Marchant in whistling solos; Miss Laura Joiner, quaintly costumed for a group of old-fashioned songs, and Miss May Rose Borum in a musical reading, "Pippa Passes." Miss Marchant was accompanied for songs and reading.

Before the friendly group disbanded, Faholo members presented a pretty class gift to Miss Nella Gerardy, soon to become the bride of Victor Woodman.

THE WEEKLY PANTRY SHELF

ANN MEREDITH'S

EAT AND GROW SLIM

Luncheon

2 tomatoes, broiled, with cheese over tops
1 well toasted French roll
1 teaspoon butter for toast
1 ripe apple or dish of strawberries with 1 teaspoon sugar, no cream.
Clear tea, no sugar
Calory total, 385

Tomatoes for broiling cannot be peeled. Wash them, nip out the blossom end, cut in halves and cover tops thickly with nippy grated cheese. Slip into a hot oven or under the broiler and cook until the tomato is fairly soft and the cheese well toasted.

TODAY'S RECIPE

Orange-Nut Loaf

4 cups white flour
1-4 cup sugar
1 teaspoon salt
4 level teaspoons baking powder
2-2 cups sweet milk
2 eggs
1 cup chopped walnuts
1 cup candied orange peel

The idea for this loaf was given to me by a friend who loves to experiment with foods. Anyone can snip up candied orange peel and stir it into a nut loaf, but it isn't every woman who will go to the trouble of candying her own peel to the right stage of moist richness. It is done this way:

Strip the peel from several oranges and soak in water for 2 days, changing the water a couple of times each day. Boil in fresh water, changing the water three times while the peel is cooking. Cut the cooked peel in strips and to each cup of peel add 1-2 cup of sugar and the juice of half an orange. Let this syrup slowly melt around the peel, then let simmer very slowly until the peel has absorbed the syrup.

It is this cup of moist rich peel which makes this nut bread stand out from its class. Try it on your next bridge or sewing luncheon if you want to do yourself proud!

Beat the eggs to a froth, gradually add the milk with more beating. Sift flour, salt and baking powder into the mixing bowl, make a depression in the flour, pour in milk and keep mixing until it is all used up. During the mixing process drop in a few nuts and a little of the candied peel so that they will stay mixed through the loaf in proper fashion.

Pack into oiled bread tins, stand 20 minutes in a warm kitchen, then bake in a moderate oven 1 hour.

A slice of this Orange-Nut Bread, cut 1-2 inch thick, has a calory value of 175. Most of this total belongs to the energy makers.

Saturday: Do you get tired of serving the eternal fried eggs and bacon for breakfast? I know I do, so occasionally I vary them by serving them with a hot Spanish dressing. That will be the recipe for tomorrow.

ANN MEREDITH.

AN OLD-TIME SCANDAL REVIVED

Some twenty-five years ago, Stanford White, one of the most notable of American architects, was shot on a roof garden by Harry Thaw, the son of a wealthy steel magnate of Pittsburgh. The assassin resented the attention of his victim to his wife, known on the stage as Evelyn Nesbit.

The trial of Thaw, his commitment to an insane asylum, his escape, and the inability of the State of New York to have him returned, mark a disgraceful series of chapters in American judicial procedure, of which all of us should be heartily ashamed. The power of money to escape justice never had a more flagrant illustration in our history.

In the course of time a divorce was obtained by the assassin from the woman who was the occasion of the tragedy, and since she has been supported through the funds given by the Thaw family as a "gift." Recently, to increase her income, she announced that she was preparing an autobiography, and the members of the Thaw family cut off their gifts. Now this one-time stage beauty, a frail, broken woman past middle life, has entered suit for a review by the courts of a divorce granted to her husband eighteen years ago.

It is difficult to imagine that there is a market for a book which will rehearse the whole unsavory story. But it is not so difficult to understand in the light of a prurient curiosity in the human mind which relishes the unsavory rehearsal of public scandals, and which eagerly devours the story of the seamy side of human existence. A frail, broken woman, once a favorite of stage-door rakes, however, has long since lost her curiosity value. The hard way of the transgressor is not easy to smooth by warming up once more the scandals of a bygone generation. There are too many Hollywood candidates playing that role in these days to divert the attention of the prurient to a transgressor of a generation ago.

But the whole moral of the story teaches its lesson. "The fatal gift of beauty" passes away; and unless beauty is supplemented by a character both sweet, and chaste, and serviceable, nothing but tragedy follows when beauty fades away. That is the tragedy of Evelyn Nesbit Thaw. It is the old story of the city of Capernaum recorded in Scripture, once "exalted to heaven, now descended to the grave." Would that our favorite beauties might heed the warning of this frail and broken woman, the idol of a former generation. It recalls an intensely human story, but starkly tragic.

THE REFORESTATION CAMPAIGN

The reforestation campaign which has just been inaugurated by the government has all the appearance of recruiting for and the waging of a military campaign. The young men are being trained in the camps constructed for the training of the soldiers in the war, their wages are about on a par with the military recruits, and the charge of the work has been given to the War Department.

It has all the virtues of military preparation without any of its brutal demoralization and fomenting of hate. Even if the government got no benefit out of it at all from the financial point of view, it would be a good thing to encourage. It takes young men away from the cities where there is no work, gets them out into the open country, puts them under a regimen of training and beneficent control, which will make them better citizens, and fit them for useful occupations with the return of prosperity.

Each summer for the past dozen years, the War Department has been carrying on a system of military training camps all over the country. This system was very offensive to many of our people who discountenanced and objected to any movement that filled the minds of our young men with the images and thoughts of war. We sincerely believe that the War Department is engaged in a better business in carrying out this reforestation campaign. Even when prosperity returns, it would be a good idea to continue this plan, instead of organizing military training camps as heretofore. No one with a knowledge of the facts could ever be made to feel that, even from a military point of view, these military training camps had any value. It was good propaganda, but little else.

All the reports coming from the camps indicate that the young men are in the main enjoying their new experience. We believe that they will come out of these camps at the end of six months better physically, and with some useful knowledge which will make the work of out-of-doors more beneficial to them and to the country. It is a pity that all the young men who are eager to go to these camps cannot be given the chance. We happen to know many young men who wanted to go, but could not be taken because the quotas in their region were all filled.

REMARKABLE IF TRUE

Li Ching-Yun who gave his age as 197 years died the other day. He was a resident of Kailshien, in the province of Szechwan. Furthermore it is stated in the news despatch of Li Ching-Yun's death that compared with the local estimates of the man's age his own estimate was conservative. In 1930 Professor Wu Chung-chien, dean of the department of education in Minkuo University is said to have found records showing Li was born in 1677 and that the Imperial Chinese Government congratulated him on his 150th and 200th anniversaries.

The story of his life is interesting. He was able to read and write as a child and by ten years of age had travelled through the provinces of Kansu, Tibet, Annam, Siam and Manchuria gathering herbs. For the first hundred years of his life he continued with this work. Then he became a herb middleman, selling herbs collected by others. One version of his life says that he buried twenty-three wives, another that he buried eighteen.

Now the secret of Li's longevity was to "keep a quiet heart, sit like a tortoise, walk sprightly like a pigeon and sleep like a dog." It is a curious fact that the people who make the greatest effort to prolong life apparently live the most circumscribed life. However, sleeping like a dog, sitting like a tortoise, walking like a pigeon, and keeping a quiet heart are not bad precepts to follow, whether one is desirous of getting the most out of the days, years, or life.

Some people find they can live a long time by merely keeping quiet and watching other people do things.

The gemsbok, a newspaper cartoonist informs a breathless world, can exist without drinking water. Some talk of making the gemsbok the national mascot instead of the eagle.

THINKING WITH MUSCLES

Dr. Edmund Jacobson of the University of Chicago described to the American Neurological Association experiments he had made which indicate that people think about performing an act with some particular part of the body. He found that merely thinking about the act of raising a ten pound weight with the right arm set up a small electric current in the biceps muscle of that arm.

Somehow or other it may connect up with the experiment performed by a Southern California professor who had twin babies brought to him every day. The one he exercised, the other he did not exercise. The mind of the one exercised was more agile than the mind of the other, indicating that muscular agility had some sort of helpful effect on the mind. One experiment such as that by itself doesn't indicate anything for the mind of one twin might have been more active than the mind of the other without the exercise. But a number of such experiments dovetailed with Dr. Edmund Jacobson's experiment would show that a well-trained body would have a more helpful effect on the mind than merely the release from a bodily load which has always been regarded as the happy effect of a healthy body on a healthy mind.

The Sea Lion's Social Success

Christian Science Monitor

Trotting a rhinoceros on one's knee, taking a hippopotamus for a buggy ride, or playing leapfrog with a giraffe, might, of course, happen in Alice's Wonderland. Ordinarily such things seldom happen. Yet a sea lion recently was entertained by an entire community on the front porch of a summer cottage on the Oregon coast.

Press reports indicate that the affair was conducted with all the formality of a major social event. The itinerant sea lion came ashore one Friday morning undoubtedly conscious of the fact that it was "fish day." Just how it happened to wander away from its friends and relatives deponent saith not, but it was there, and the population of the town took notice and gave it a full measure of welcome.

It is a commentary on the changed attitude of men toward wild animals that the sea lion was received with kindly attention to its comfort. There was no demand that the creature be shot or taken into captivity. It was felt that it was not every day a sea lion dropped in. A state senator or county commissioner might occasionally permit the town to unleash its hospitality, but a sea lion only once in a lifetime.

And so the townspeople made the monarch of the sea their guest of honor for the week-end and broadcast the news far and wide. Automobiles by the hundreds found their way to the scene of the festivities. Spreading its ample proportions over the available porch area and adjoining territory, the sea lion received its guests with poise and ponderosity. Incidentally it made no resistance to attempts to feed it.

Such was the success of the party, moreover, that the last "good-bye" of the townspeople fell upon deaf ears. Escorting to the beach and waving an au revoir fit for a departing king, the sea lion merely blinked its eyes and waddled back again. It had fed on fish and the milk of human kindness for a week-end, and it liked it. And it was not until carried in a big truck far out into the water, where it must have felt the call of the Bering Sea, that it slipped into the ocean and pointed its nose northward.

Finding Ways to Use Those Leisure Hours

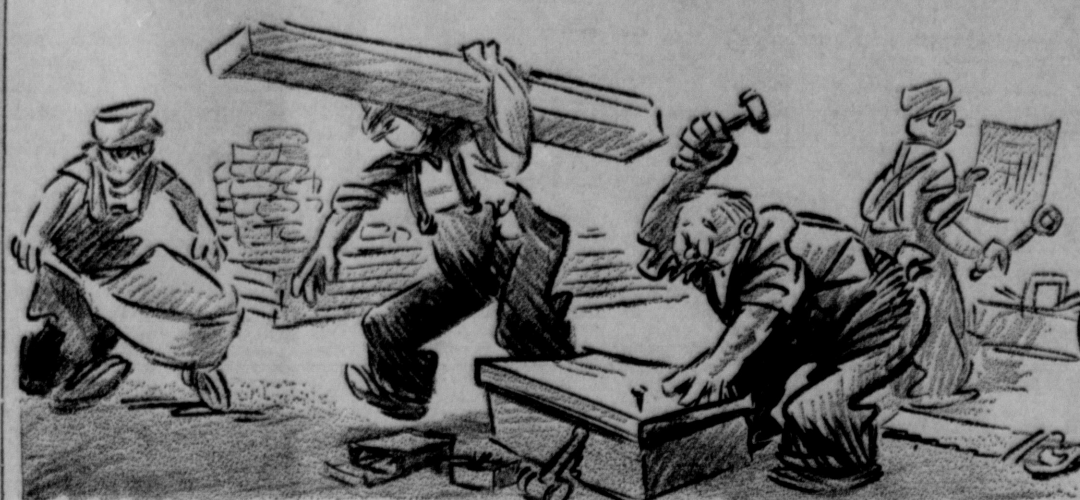

Riverside Enterprise

A lonesome young person, stranger in a large city, wrote to a newspaper columnist to ask where and how pleasant social contacts might be made. The newspaper writer herself made a few of the usual suggestions—joining clubs in Y. M. C. A. or Y. W. C. A., joining a church, and so on—all of them good. But the suggestions did not stop there. Readers of the column began writing friendly and understanding letters telling of other opportunities.

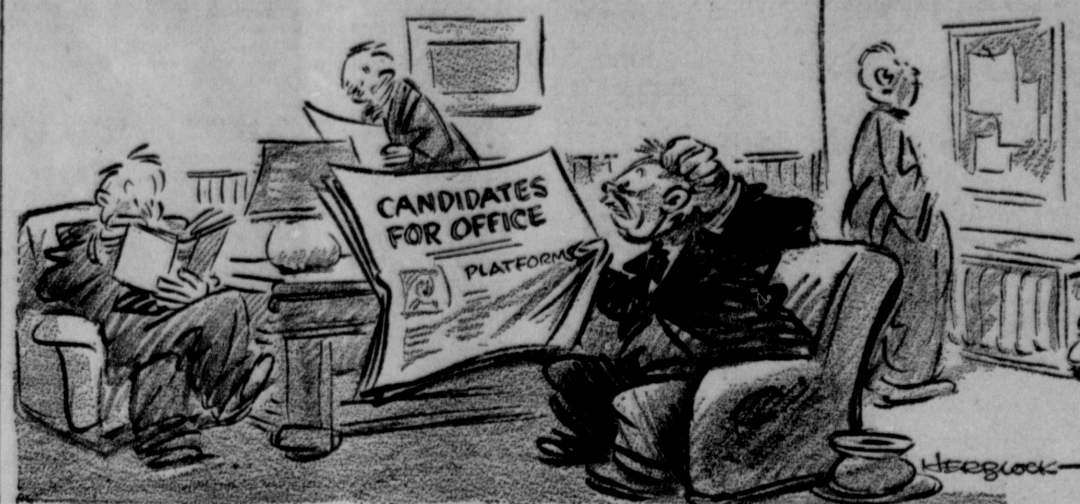

From the public library came word of a poetry group made up of young men and women who liked to get together to read and study poetry, and sometimes to write it themselves. From another source came news of a hiking club which takes walks almost the year around in the parks and open country. The number of amateur dramatics groups writing in that they were open to general membership was amazing and indicates how far from dead is interest in the drama. The president of a local society for the advancement of music wrote that the organization was anxious to help musicians and singers who have no musical connection to make the proper contacts. He said there were at least 100 choruses, choirs and orchestras in the city on the watch for new members.

The list probably is not yet complete. Other letters may be received. Those already printed afford a heartening revelation of the many and varied cultural and social opportunities found in such a community. Those individuals who worry so much about the use of leisure must not be aware of how well it is being used by a large and increasing number of young people.

More Truth Than Poetry

By James J. Montague

BETTER SAFE THAN SORRY

It is now declared that the boy who stood on the burning deck must have been weak-minded.

I never could cheer for the child,
Held up as a model to me,
Who stood on the deck
Of a flame-consuming wreck
Till it sank like a log in the sea.
My parents and teachers were loud
In their praise of this indiscreet wight.
When his story I read,
"This urchin was not very bright!"

Why should poets be keen to extol
A boy who would run such a chance?
Why should still he appear
For long years after year
As a figure of shining romance?
That he did not leap into the tide
And nimbly strike out for the land,
Which the son of a gun
Might have easily done,
Was a thing I could not understand.

But today, I am happy to learn,
That sensible men are inclined
To agree that the lad
Some impediment had
In the faculty known as his mind,
And the children who soon will grow up
Will indulge in heroics no more,
But when caught in a trap
Like this poor witless chap
Will speedily swim for the shore.

PARAGRAPHS

By Robert Quillen

The country is behind you, Mr. President, but don't let it get too far behind.

The measure of a man's greatness is the length of time people remember his blunders.

It seems like old times to be feeling that we shouldn't blame the Germans for their leaders.

The first failure of Roosevelt leadership occurred when he returned a portion of his salary.

You can tell a man who has nothing worth stealing. He says: "Sure; hop in."

THE BOOM PERIOD HAD ONE MERIT. NOBODY HAD TIME TO SHAVE AROUND A LITTLE TRICK MOUSTACHE.

Let's hope shark skin becomes fashionable. Some guy will learn to imitate it and thus help the cattle business.

This year the circus people risk their necks in every crazy way except by kissing while neglecting the steering wheel.

Any great man will tell you the ten books you should read. He intends to read them, too, when he gets time.

AMERICANISM: Yelling that we're too poor to help the unemployed; spending millions on legal beer the first day it appears.

Other cities shouldn't envy Chicago's World Fair prosperity in these times. The brave deserve the Fair.

Overcoming a State deficit isn't so hard. You just figure it up and hold out that much on the teachers.

Invading soldiers always find wives, so this forestry army must start a lot of new family trees, too.

YOU CAN SAY ONE THING FOR APARTMENT LIFE. THERE ISN'T ROOM FOR THE YOUNG PEOPLE TO MAKE THEIR HOME WITH THE BRIDE'S PARENTS.

"Banker takes French leave," says a headline. Only three generations from shirt sleeves to French leaves.

A "moral awakening" means people are poor enough to get mad at a crook who is still prospering.

You can tell when prosperity is here again. Little fellows who are getting their won't care how the big fellow gets his.

If the other was "near," you might call this adjacent beer.

CORRECT THIS SENTENCE: "I HAVE ABSOLUTE FAITH IN MY HUSBAND," SAID THE WIFE, "AND THE FACT THAT HE HAS A BEAUTIFUL STENOGRAPHER DOESN'T WORRY ME ONE BIT."

Thoughts On Modern Life

By GLENN FRANK

A REVIVAL OF RELIGION

Last week I stepped aside from the discussion of inflation, deflation, tariffs, monetary policies, labor bills, the renaissance of agriculture, and kindred problems, which has filled this column for weeks on end, and turned to the discussion of so remote an issue as immortality.

I did this in response to an inquiry from a reader of these articles.

On second thought, however, I suspect that I turned with an eager readiness to the issue of immortality because, in the back of my mind, I have been harboring for some time the notion that a very genuine revival of religion may accompany our emergence from this phase of dire depression through which we have been passing.

As we look back upon the fantastic days of the alleged New Era, we realize that we have never developed an ethics of prosperity equal to the ethics of poverty upon the development of which the race has spent the thought of generations.

The long centuries of poverty evoked the notion that sweet are the uses of adversity.

We shall not be ready to administer an economy of plenty until we are able to say that sweet are the uses of prosperity.

This means that we must develop saints as well as salesmen in the ranks of our economic leadership.

The saint, let us remember, is not a molly-coddle.

"The saint differs from the virtuous man," says Dean Inge, "in possessing a strain of heroism, of enthusiasm, and of spontaneity in his moral conduct."

It is interesting, I think, that some of the best lives of the saints have been written by men and women who have been themselves not at all the believer or conventional religionist.

The best life of St. Bernard was written by Cotter Morison, who shot many an arrow at Christianity.

The best life of St. Teresa was written by Paul Sabatier, who would be classed as a heretic by many of the orthodox.

The best life of St. Teresa was written by Mrs. Cunningham Graham, who wrote as a disbeliever.

I venture the prediction that we shall enter the next era of prosperity with a realization upon the part of many who are not consciously religious that we must bring a new moral passion and ethical purpose to the administration of prosperity.

In this will be found the dynamics of a very real revival of religion.

HOME

Children do not see the shortcomings of home. To them it is a perfect place. Everything in it is just right because it is home. If we do our best to keep them in that attitude we can make home the loveliest place in the world. We need not point out the shortcomings that we see and feel. We can let them be submerged by the atmosphere of security and affection.

"Mother, can I bring Carol home with me for dinner tonight? Her mother had to go to see her mother, Carol's grandmother, you know, and I said we would be glad to have her come for dinner. We could study together this evening. Can I?"

"Of course. That's a fine idea." "I'll just sit and set the table and I'll help put it away."

"All right. I think there are some pink forget-me-nots near the edge of the garden and I'll pick them for a bowl for the center. We'll feel like a party."

The mother who said that knew that the dining room rug was shabby, that the lighting was old style and rather ugly, that the meal would be simple to frugality, all very different from what their guest was used to seeing or having. But her affectionate good sense told her that so long as her little daughter thought it a fine place to bring her guests it was just that kind of a place, and she must do her share to keep it so.

Many times we make the children feel uncomfortable about bringing visitors. We point out the deficiencies of the house, count the bathrooms, enumerate the lack of linen, silver, service and what-not until the children are forced to feel ashamed of their home and all that it in it. The old-fashioned notion that the spirit of home was what counted is the better one. Guests, whether they are children or grownups, are not concerned about the equipment of the house. What they are looking for is a warm welcome. An extended hand and an open heart that makes them feel that in this house there is a place of honor for them, a place of peace and security, where they can expand in security.

I believe it is a mistake to grieve about the worn places in the rugs and the rubs on the furniture. It is a pity to throw out the old chair that bears the traces of long service. The house that is kept like the one on the magazine cover cannot have the feeling of home, because home is where a family live. Living makes marks on people's faces, rugs and furniture. Long service puts a character into all of them, and behind the character and shining through it is the spirit that makes them worth while. Accept the children's unspoiled attitude about home. Don't try to adapt it to the customs and habits of every guest that comes, but do try to let it express the family spirit as it is and at its best. Give what you have. It is what your guests, young and old, need. Show your children that you believe in your own handiwork and they will agree with you and get much good in being loving.
